PCMH Transformation: Getting Started

Your journey to patient-centered medical home (PCMH) transformation starts with the following foundational concepts, intended to help you lay the groundwork for a successful PCMH transformation.

Not yet convinced that the medical home model is right for your practice? The concepts in this "getting started" checklist are central to any well-functioning practice—PCMH or otherwise.

CHECKLIST

Staffing□ Develop physician leadership skills.□ Define staff member roles and job descriptions.	 Establish policies and procedures for software maintenance. Give physicians 24/7 access to medical charts.
Allow patients to select their personal physician(s).	Quality Improvement (QI) ☐ Form a skilled team to work on QI projects.
Financial Management	☐ Learn about and use the basic principles
☐ Budget and forecast for the future.	of QI, then implement a QI project.
Manage cash flows and seek revenue- enhancing opportunities.Optimize your practice's billing and coding procedures.	 Patient Safety ☐ Learn about patient safety basics and assess your practice. ☐ Develop a culture of patient safety and
Health Information Technology	address safety concerns.
 Comply with the HIPAA security and privacy rules. Develop a contingency plan for down time and data loss. 	 Patient Experience of Care ☐ Conduct a patient satisfaction survey and act on the results. ☐ Provide appropriate care based on patient needs and background.

Implement this checklist with the help of step-by-step guides. Purchase the PCMH Planner at aafp.org/pcmhplanner.

