Personal Statement
My mother always taught me that if you are not part of the solution then you are part of the problem. I have always taken this to heart and have found an organization in the AAFP that I feel is part of the solution. I would like to be a member of the AAFP Board of Directors not because I have all of the answers for the issues that new physicians face, but because I want to work with new physicians to tackle these issues and get ideas. I am an academic physician who trains residents, practices medicine, and performs health services research. My clinical practice is in a PCMH that cares exclusively for individuals with developmental disabilities, which presents unique challenges and problem-solving. I feel that my varied experience provides a solid foundation on which to represent new physicians. I am very excited for the potential opportunity to represent new physicians on the AAFP Board.

To the New Physician Delegation of the American Academy of Family Physicians

To whom it may concern:

I submit this letter in support of the nomination of Dr. Kyle Jones, Board member of the Utah Academy of Family Physicians, to the position of New Physician Delegate to the AAFP Board of Directors. Dr. Jones is an ideal candidate for this position with the AAFP. He is dedicated to improving Family Medicine as a specialty and to the health of the public, and is a devoted and active member of the Academy. In addition to serving as a UAFP Board Member, he has served on the AAFP Commission for Governmental Advocacy, two years as the Utah Alternate-Delegate to the AAFP Congress, currently serves as Delegate to the Congress of Delegates, and is an active member of the UAFP Legislative Committee.

As a practicing physician, Dr. Jones runs the Neurobehavior HOME Program, a patient-centered medical home that provides medical and psychiatric care to developmentally disabled individuals. It is one of only a handful of clinics in the country that combine primary care with behavioral and psychiatric care together in a medical home model. By utilizing a team that includes family medicine providers, pediatric providers, psychiatrists, case managers, therapists and behaviorists, he leads medical teams that are able to achieve impressive outcomes in a population that can be very difficult to care for.

For these and many more reasons, I am confident that you will find Dr. Jones’s commitment and passion will lend perfectly to the mission of the AAFP Board of Directors.

Thank you for your consideration.

Personal Statement
New physicians face challenges in the transition from residency to practice. We are a diverse group practicing in many arenas. We struggle to maintain balance in developing patient panels, grow our families, and continue our personal goals.

As full time, full scope physician with three children I understand that struggle. I hope to bring my experience from local Academy leadership to help with new physician well-being. My focus will be on how the Academy can better support new physicians in both their professional careers as well as in life balance.

Dear Angela:

The NYSAFP is proud to endorse KrisEmily McCrory, MD, for election as New Physician Director on the AAFP board of directors.

Dr. McCrory has distinguished herself in chapter leadership positions and would apply the significant experience she has had in local and state chapter activities in representing the perspective of New Physician Members in the deliberations of the AAFP board. She has been a leader in her residency program and as a new physician director on the NYSAFP board of directors. She has served as a delegate at our Congress of Delegates.

Dr. McCrory has been actively engaged in our advocacy efforts including our annual advocacy day. She understands issues and appreciates the importance of public policy in the mission of the Academy.

Dr. McCrory has acquired leadership skills through her participation in our Congress and resident leadership training programs. She has also applied those skills as an active participant in our lobby day, our Congress and our board.

Dr. McCrory has the requisite skills and experience to be an outstanding director for the AAFP Congress. I am happy to recommend her.

Sincerely,

Vito F. Grasso

Personal Statement
I feel that it is our responsibility as physicians leaders to stand firm in our desire to have proper balance between work & life. We need to be at the head of the table, not just a presence among the corporate entities of such table. The young/new physician presence can represent the urgency of practicing medicine without fear of age.

To: Members of the New Physicians Caucus
    American Academy of Family Physicians/NCCL

On behalf of the California Academy of Family Physicians, it is my pleasure and honor to endorse the candidacy of Marie-Elizabeth Rama, MD for the position of New Physician Director to the AAFP Board of Directors.

Dr. Rama moved to California from Texas — the Texas Chapter wasn’t happy to see her leave, but was kind enough to notify us that she had come here and that if we were smart, we’d be in touch immediately to engage her in Academy activities. We did and she responded immediately — and neither of us has looked back!

Marie is a very impressive individual. She has attended our Congress of Delegates, now All Member Advocacy Meeting, joined our Medi-Cal Task Force and represented CAFP at the National Conference of Special Constituencies since she moved to California. She serves as our Delegate to the New Physicians caucus at this year’s NCCL. Marie has also been actively engaged with our CAFP Delegation to the AAFP Congress of Delegates and in 2014 she was appointed to serve on AAFP’s Commission on Membership and Member Services. Quite a resume for someone so early in practice!

Dr. Rama is articulate and thoughtful and as you can see from her statement on the application, she has been a spokesperson since she was just 13 years of age. She practices in a rural community in Northern California as medical director of a rural health clinic providing full scope care, including obstetrics, for a very poor patient population. She is actively engaged in her community as well, including activities with her church, children’s school and running group.

Marie Rama would be a perfect addition to the AAFP Board of Directors — she is energetic, engaged, committed, thoughtful, fresh and full of new ideas about how we can better serve our members. She is the heart and voice of the new family physicians. We highly recommend Dr. Rama.

Thank you,

Jay W. Lee, MD, MPH
