AAFP Student Membership Coordinators

are vital to specialty awareness on campuses across the nation. In contact with fellow medical students and their Family Medicine Interest Groups, student coordinators build awareness of the AAFP and family medicine, communicate the benefits of membership, and are rewarded for their efforts.

Student Membership Basics

Student members gain members-only access to resources such as:

- Award-winning American Family Physician journal
- Online Board Review Q&A
- National and local chapter support providing everything from mentoring programs to scholarships

1 | Build Awareness

Not just another association, the AAFP offers FREE membership and FREE resources to help student members get through medical school.

2 | Communicate Benefits

As a student membership coordinator of the third largest medical association, you will communicate the benefits of membership.

3 | Be Rewarded

Advance family medicine on your campus and be rewarded for your time. Every 25 applications received from your campus, gives you a $25 gift card at Amazon.com, iTunes, or Starbucks.
