

EVERYONE wins with the AAFP

Supporting your family physician's AAFP membership is a great investment.

In the changing world of health care, family physicians shouldn't go at it alone. That's why the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) was developed to serve the needs of family physicians and the family medicine specialty—the cornerstone of health care in America.

The AAFP offers incredible value, including access to tools, solutions, and insights that your physicians can implement into their daily jobs.

Clinical resources:

The AAFP strives to provide cutting-edge, relevant education in a variety of formats—everything from a deep dive classroom setting to an online self-study course. To help family physicians enhance patient care and stay current on clinical issues, the AAFP also provides CME, the latest clinical decisions, and evidence-based practice guidelines on hot topics, including opioid abuse and yearly vaccine recommendations. Plus, the AAFP offers options for physicians who can attend educational meetings and those who can't.

Professional resources:

The AAFP has developed practical tools and resources to help members practice smarter and more efficiently. Your physicians will save time reporting CME to the American Board of Family Medicine (ABFM) and other institutions using the AAFP's Primary+®. This CME and professional portfolio lets members report CME, log procedures, and keep up with their professional requirements online, allowing them more time for patient care.

Well-being support:

The AAFP believes family physicians' self-care comes first. That's why the AAFP launched Physician Health First. This first-of-its-kind initiative is devoted to improving the well-being and professional satisfaction of family physicians and reversing physician burnout. Additionally, there are a variety of members-only wellness resources—including the Well-being Planner—and curated content organized to help them stay passionate about their purpose: providing quality patient care.

Connections:

The AAFP is focused on creating networking opportunities where members can meet, discuss, listen, and broaden their access to professional resources. For instance, members can get involved in a chapter or join one of the AAFP's Member Interest Groups (MIGs), which allow like-minded peers to gather online or face to face to discuss various topics of interest.

Legislative support:

The AAFP works hard to ensure legislators know about the issues that matter to family physicians. In today's broken health care system, the AAFP is focused on reducing administrative burdens, standardizing and harmonizing administrative requirements, and ensuring appropriate valuation of services for all. Plus, membership supports our efforts to engage with payers to achieve payment reform.

Leadership opportunities:

The AAFP is committed to developing future leaders. The AAFP is committed to developing future leaders. As the health care system becomes more complex, there's a need for more family physicians to step up and lead. That's why the AAFP offers unparalleled professional development opportunities, including numerous leadership roles on boards, commissions, and committees—through chapters and the AAFP—that allow members to influence AAFP policy and inspire change for the specialty at both the national and state levels.
