

Student Chair, National Conference

Margaret Smith

Student Chair National Conference

Margaret Smith

Margaret Smith

Education

East Tennessee State University (ETSU) Quillen College of Medicine
Doctor of Medicine, Anticipated 2020

Rural Primary Care Track Participant: A nationally ranked four year program that exposes students to the challenges faced by rural communities and patients who live in these underserved areas. Other Electives: Medical Spanish, Healer's Art

ETSU College of Public Health – Masters of Public Health, Anticipated 2020
Health Services Management & Policy Concentration

University of Tennessee, Knoxville – Bachelor of Science, 2014
Biochemistry & Cellular and Molecular Biology Concentration, Spanish Minor

Additional Education

Interprofessional Education Program, ETSU Quillen College of Medicine, '15-'17
Inaugural graduate of a two-year program designed to educate health science students on team-based care. Students from fields including medicine, pharmacy, nursing, clinical psychology, social work, nutrition, and public health build long-term working relationships through this longitudinal program.

Emerging Leaders in Medicine, ETSU Quillen College of Medicine, 2015-2020
Inaugural participant in a program that combines community service, journal clubs, interprofessional education, and introspection to empower student physicians to assume leadership roles. Now helping to lead the program.

AMSA Sexual Health Leadership Course, 2015-2016
Engaged in weekly training surrounding LGBTQ healthcare. Organized a SafeZone training for 40 health students to help student clinicians be better LGBTQ allies.

Leadership Experience

Graduate Assistant, ETSU Interprofessional Education Program, 2018-2019
A new and rapidly expanding program that seeks to bring together students in all six of ETSU's health science colleges for innovative interprofessional training. Developing curriculum and research on team-based care.

American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP) Commission on Membership & Membership Services, 2017-2018
Student appointment to a commission focused on implementing change on issues surrounding special AAFP member constituencies and membership issues.

AAFP Family Medicine Interest Group (FMIG) Regional Coordinator, 2017
Liaison between student run interest groups and the national AAFP organization.

AAFP Reference Committee Member, August 2019, August 2018, July 2017
Listened to student resolutions on issues in health and medicine and helped recommend action concerning each resolution to the Student Congress.

Family Medicine Interest Group, President, 2016-2017
Organized meetings on topics such as advocacy and interprofessionalism. Received a Program of Excellence Award in 2017 from the AAFP FMIG Network.

Community Service

tnAchieves Program Mentor, 2018

Currently serving as a mentor for the Tennessee Promise program which funds two years of tuition and fees at an eligible college for students in Tennessee. Mentors help students navigate the transition from high school to college while maintaining scholarship eligibility.

Belize Medical Missions Trip, October 2017

Student team member on a week long free clinic in Roaring Creek, Belize. Participated in home visits, rural outreach, and acted as interpreter.

Family Medicine Interest Group Tar Wars Coordinator, Quillen College of Medicine, 2015-2016

Organized the AAFP's anti-smoking campaign program for all fourth graders in Washington County, TN.

AmeriCorps Community HealthCorps School-Based Health Educator, Open Door Family Medical Center, 2014-2015

Completed 1700 hours of service in Westchester County, New York creating and implementing preventative health programming for sixth graders. Taught LifeSkills, a drug and alcohol prevention program that seeks to give middle schoolers skills to manage strong emotions and be assertive when making decisions.

Oral Presentations

Rural Health Association of Tennessee, Pigeon Forge, TN, 2017 – M. Smith, B. Brandt, K. Denton, K. Shirely. Social Determinants of Health lecture titled "What Makes Us Healthy."

AAFP National Conference of Students and Residents, Kansas City, MO, 2017 – V. Boggiano, M. Smith, C. Stisher. Narrative Medicine workshop titled "FMIG Leadership Series: You + Your Story = Family Medicine."

Posters

"Early Clinical Exposure in a Rural Setting for First Year Medical Students." M. Smith, B. Brandt, K. Shirely, K. Denton. Project on in person case-based learning for first year medical students. Selected to be presented at the AAMC National Conference in 2018 for a segment on Leaders Leading Leaders.

Scholarships & Awards

David and Jenny Marion Byrd Scholarship for a student in Family Medicine, 2017
Quillen Medicine Scholar, Quillen College of Medicine, 2015-2020
Chancellor's Citation of Extraordinary Community Service, Univ. of TN, 2014
Leadership & Service Scholarship, University of Tennessee, 2013-2014

Certifications

Advanced Cardiac Life Support, 2017
Basic Life Support, 2017
SafeZone LGBT Ally Training, 2016, 2014

Hobbies

Singing, Yoga, Drive-In Movies, Hanging With my Cats, Crafting
Took a 6,000 mile solo road trip in Summer 2016 and recently traveled to Banff National Park, Canada
Conversational Spanish

Margaret Smith

smithmj5@etsu.edu

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Margaret Smith and I am an MD/MPH candidate at the East Tennessee State University Quillen College of Medicine in Johnson City, Tennessee. I am writing to express my interest in running for AAFP Student Chair of National Conference 2018-2019.

Working with students interested in family medicine has been both a pleasure and a privilege. Like many students here at conference, I worked with my institution's Family Medicine Interest Group to spread the word about the variety of opportunities found in this specialty. I helped develop programming that exposed younger students to the breadth of clinical family practice, dispelled myths about primary care, and encouraged students to further explore Family Medicine as a specialty by attending National Conference. As an FMIG Network Regional Coordinator, I got to hear the concerns of students across the country striving to spread the word about Family Medicine. I enjoyed being able to work with other regional coordinators to help connect students to AAFP staff and resources that would help them achieve their goals. Over the last year, I was given the opportunity as a member of the Commission on Membership and Membership Services to represent students during discussions concerning topics like new physician retention and student membership eligibility.

Throughout these experiences, I've attended many meetings and clusters and business sessions, but truly the AAFP National Conference of Students and Residents is the highlight of my year. My classmates know that I am always pumped to talk to students about National Conference and the opportunities for engagement that conference provides. Whether you attend a school with a huge emphasis on primary care, or a school that doesn't have a Family Medicine department, this conference should continue to serve as a place for you to find a like-minded community of students, as well as be challenged with new ideas. It should be a place of rejuvenation between sunrises at the hospital and tedious board exams. It should be educational and teach cutting edge techniques, but still be ridiculously fun and engaging. If you'll have me, I hope to keep improving on the content, structure, and logistics of the AAFP National Conference of Students and Residents while still keeping that small community feeling that warmly welcomes students year after year, even with attendance reaching upwards of five thousand. Thank you for letting me serve as a student leader for the last two years and thank you for your consideration for one more.

Sincerely,

Margaret Smith

MD/MPH Candidate, Class of 2020

East Tennessee State University Quillen College of Medicine

Conflict of Interest Policy and Disclosure Statement

CONFLICT OF INTEREST POLICY

The AAFP Board of Directors, officers, staff, as well as members serving in other organizational capacities (such as members of commissions and AAFP representatives to external entities) must act at all times in the best interest of the AAFP. The purpose of this policy is to help inform members and staff about what constitutes a conflict of interest, provide assistance in identification and disclosure of actual and potential conflicts, and help ensure the avoidance and resolution of conflicts of interest where necessary. This policy may be enforced as described below:

[NOTE: A separate policy exists for all AAFP-produced Continuing Medical Education activities. Individuals participating in these activities are subject to the "CME Policy and Procedures for Full Disclosure and Identification and Resolution of Conflicts of Interest" and should complete the disclosure statement developed solely for these activities.] This form can also be found online at www.aafp.org/conflict.

1. Individuals serving in representational capacities (e.g., Board members, commission members) or in employment capacities have a fiduciary duty to conduct themselves without conflict to the interests of the AAFP. In these capacities, they must subordinate personal, individual business, third-party, and other interests to the welfare and best interests of the AAFP.
2. A conflict of interest is a transaction or relationship which presents or may present a conflict between an individual's obligations to the AAFP and the individual's personal, business, or other interests.
 - a. Generally, a conflict of interest could be said to exist when individuals have material interests outside the AAFP which could influence them, or could be perceived as influencing them to act contrary to the best interests of the AAFP and for their own personal benefit or the benefit of a relative or business associate.

- b. Frequently the type of interest resulting in a conflict would be financial, such as an individual who has an association with a third party through a grant or stipend, an ownership interest, an employment relationship, or a consultative or advisory arrangement.
 - c. In some instances a conflict of interest may exist even though the conflict does not arise out of financial considerations. For example, a member of the AAFP Board of Directors also may have a fiduciary responsibility as a member of the Board of Directors of another organization. If the interests of that organization were contrary to the AAFP's interests, a situation could exist in which the individual could not fulfill his or her fiduciary responsibilities to both organizations.
3. All conflicts of interest are not necessarily prohibited or harmful to the AAFP. However, full disclosure of all actual and potential conflicts, and a determination by the disinterested entity (such as the Board or a commission)—with the interested individual(s) recused from participating in debates and voting on the matter—are required.
4. All actual and potential conflicts of interest shall be disclosed by members serving in representational capacities and by designated staff through the annual disclosure statement and/or whenever a conflict arises. The disinterested members of the representational entity (such as the Board or a commission) shall make a determination as to whether a conflict exists and what subsequent action is appropriate (if any). Determinations at the staff level shall be made by the Executive Vice President or his/her designee(s).
5. On an annual basis, all Board members, officers, other members serving in representational capacities, and designated staff shall be provided with a copy of this policy and are required to complete and sign the disclosure statement below. The AAFP will provide all members of each entity (e.g., Board, commission) with copies of the disclosure statements for all members of their respective entities.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

I have read the AAFP Conflict of Interest Policy set forth above and agree to comply fully with its terms and conditions at all times during my service to AAFP. If at any time following submission of this form I become aware of any actual or potential conflicts of interest, or if the information provided below becomes inaccurate or incomplete, I will promptly notify the AAFP Executive Vice President in writing.

Disclosure of Actual or Potential Conflicts of Interest (attach additional pages if necessary):

Signature

Print

Date

AAFP Member ID#

Capacity in which serving when this form was completed (Board member, commission member, staff, etc.).