

Welcome First-Time Attendees

Residency Program Solutions® \(RPS\) consultants are experienced family medicine educators and program directors with hundreds of years of collective experience in the accreditation process. We welcome you to PDW and RPS and offer up 6 tips that every attendee should know:

Tip 1: Attend the PDW and RPS Breakfast Discussion Tables

Details: Find lively conversations covering a variety of different topics—listed in your program and in the app—or create your own discussion table focused on an issue not yet covered!

Where: Exhibit Hall B

When: PDW: Saturday 7-8am and RPS: Monday 7-8am

Tip 2: Claim Your Credit

Details: Osteopathic physicians can claim 22 AOA Category 1-A CME credits for attending this year's conference. You'll have to complete a session evaluation (online or in the app) for each session attended—an AOA number and name must be provided on each session evaluation. This will be the only mechanism for reporting CME credit hours to the American Osteopathic Association.

AAFP Members can claim their credit online or call (800) 274-2237.

Tip 3: Download Every Presentation Hand-Out

Details: Easily access and download all presentation hand-outs at aafp.org/pdw-rps/schedule—you can also find them through the app!

Tip 4: Don't Miss the Sunday Shared Programming

Details: Catch up on the latest updates from the ACGME Review Committee and the American Board of Family Medicine during back-to-back discussion forums, featuring leadership from both organizations.

Where: Exhibit Hall B

When: Sunday; ACGME Forum: 8-10am; ABFM Forum 10:30am-12:30pm

Tip 5: Visit our RPS Booth

Details: Stop by to speak with RPS representatives to learn more about how our consultations may be able to help your program.

Where: Booths 7 & 8 in Exhibit Hall A

When: Visit us in-between workshops and programming on Saturday and Sunday.

Tip 6: Ask Questions!

Details: If you have any questions, don't be afraid to reach out to anyone at the registration desk, or waive down an AAFP staff member, RPS Consultant or AFMRD Board Member.
