Penn State Health is fundamentally committed to the diversity of our faculty and staff. We believe diversity is unapologetically expressing itself through every person’s perspectives and lived experiences. We are an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, marital status, national or ethnic origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sex (including pregnancy), sexual orientation, veteran status, and family medical or genetic information.
It wasn’t very long ago that the typical out-patient practice was full of activity. Patients were coming in for care, assessments following elective surgeries and/or changes in functional status were being performed, therapy was being prescribed and patients were being helped to recover function. Telehabilitation was being discussed, but was not a primary part of care delivery, in large part because of reimbursement barriers.
