FMIG OperationKECK FMIG OPERATIONAL OVERVIEW

The Keck Family Medicine Interest Group (Keck FMIG) is a student-run organization at the Keck School of Medicine (KSOM) of the University of Southern California (USC). Keck FMIG is part of the AAFP and the California Academy of Family Physician (CAFP) networks. At USC, Keck FMIG is also a recognized student organization under both Associated Students of the School of Medicine (ASSM), Graduate Student Government (GSG), and is registered with the USC Campus Activities Office on the main University Park Campus. Our programming is funded by AAFP, CAFPA, ASSM and GSG and our annual allotted budget is about $6150.

In addition to collaborating with our Department of Family Medicine and the USC-Eisner Family Medicine Residency Program at California Hospital, our organization works closely with family physicians and resident physicians in the greater Los Angeles area including but not limited to Kaiser Permanente, Keck Hospital of USC, California Hospital at USC Eisner Family Medicine clinic and Long Beach Memorial. We also collaborate with other primary care-related student organizations through the Keck Primary Care Coalition, such as the Pediatrics Interest Group, Medicine-Pediatrics Interest Group and the Geriatrics Interest Group. Keck FMIG also interfaces with the Keck Career Advising Office, the Keck SOM Office of Admissions, and the 3rd Year Family Medicine Clerkship Office.

MEMBERSHIP (RECRUITMENT & RETENTION)

Any medical student at KSOM with an interest in Family Medicine can become a member of Keck FMIG. Email is the main medium by which Keck FMIG corresponds with its membership, and we maintain updated information both through our own website and the student interest group website through Keck. Most students sign up at or soon after the annual Student Life Fair in August and additional students join throughout the year by signing up at Keck FMIG events. All medical students are encouraged to sign up for a free AAFP and CAFP membership so that they have access to free conferences, scholarships, fellowships, journals and newsletters, and flyers are distributed at our events throughout the year. We also use the Keck MD Events shared google calendar, social media platforms including as Facebook, and post flyers for upcoming events on campus. In 2020-2021, no first-year or second-year medical students asked to be removed from our listserve.

STUDENT LEADERSHIP

Each year, in January, all first year students are invited to apply for Keck FMIG leadership positions. Students are asked to answer a few questions about why they are interested in Family Medicine and why they want to be a leader in FMIG. The new leadership is chosen by the outgoing officers and the Keck FMIG Advisor, and an effort is made to match a candidate's interest, experience, and strengths to the available positions. In-person interviews are held if there is more interest than positions available. New leaders are trained by their counterparts from the previous year in order to ensure that all relevant information gets passed on in an organized manner.

This year, the Keck FMIG board consisted of two co-presidents to handle administrative and financial duties, as well as plan lunch talks and workshops.

The FMIG Leaders for the 2020-2021 academic year are:

Co-Presidents: Eduardo Valle and Erica Tran, both MS2

Primary Care Coalition Chair: Anise Applebaum, MS2

Community Outreach Chair: Nick Hu, MS2

Ready Set Fit/Cuddle Club Chair/La Familia Chair: Paige Kingston, MS2

Mentorship Chair: Henry Steyer, MS2

Events Chair: Margaret Huang, MS2

Our incoming board for 2021-2022, one of whom served as our first-year representative this past semester, are:

President: Annette Gomez, MS1

Primary Care Coalition Chair: Alondra Hurtado, MS1

Community Outreach Chair: Lindsay Nagatani-Short, MS1

Ready Set Fit/Cuddle Club Chair/La Familia Chair: Shirley Li, MS1

Mentorship Chair: Diana Nielsen, MS1

Events Chair: Melissa Gonzalez, MS1

A leadership transition meeting was held on 02/26/2021 to prepare the first years to take over as the new leadership team. Communication between the leaders is conducted primarily over email, over zoom, and with quarterly board meetings.

Goals

MISSION STATEMENT

The Keck FMIG strives to promote the values and philosophy of Family Medicine to students and the greater campus community at KSOM. Additionally, we are committed to addressing issues pertaining to primary care, patient advocacy, health systems delivery and psychosocial medicine. Throughout the year, Keck FMIG organizes a variety of programs with an emphasis on education about the breadth and depth of Family Medicine through mentorship and shadowing with Family Medicine doctors, community service projects, career and residency advising, and networking opportunities.

ORGANIZATION GOALS

1. Increase student membership in the Keck FMIG/CAFP /AAFP.
2. Increase FMIG presence on campus as a respected and active student organization.
3. Provide hands-on procedural workshops and service programs for first and second year students to participate in that are related to health education and procedures typical of a family physician.
4. Provide an informative lecture series about the field of Family Medicine and primary care.
5. Serve as a contact for third and fourth year students who are interested in applying to Family Medicine residency programs.
6. Help students interested in primary care to develop their leadership skills while in medical school.
7. Continue to grow the Family Medicine Mentorship and Shadowing Program to expose first and second year students to community based family medicine mentors and shadowing opportunities.
8. Increase student interest in Family Medicine as a specialty/career choice and ultimately increase the number of fourth year students who match into Family Medicine.
9. Increase collaboration with other primary care student interest groups, other health professional students, campus departments and inter-professional student programs.
10. Raise awareness about non-USC Family Medicine opportunities including fellowships, International Medicine opportunities, community-based research, scholarships and leadership opportunities.

Faculty Advisor

Dr. Jo Marie Reilly, Professor of Family Medicine at USC, has served as our advisor for the last 11 years. She joined KSOM in 2007 and continues to see patients at a clinical family practice in inner-city Los Angeles. Dr. Reilly is fluent in Spanish, has completed a fellowship in obstetrics and has a Masters of Public Health. She is also the Vice Chair of Education for Family Medicine and the Director of the Keck School of Medicine Primary Care Initiative, which provides outpatient clinical opportunities, exercise and nutrition service learning for students and community members, and inter-professional geriatric care experiences for a select group of primary care-minded medical students. She is a track mentor for third year students. At KSOM she is a prominent and respected family physician with a passion for serving the underserved and minority populations. She was recently awarded the CAFP Award for Education Excellence as well as the prestigious Mellon Mentoring Award for Graduate Mentoring. She also enjoys exploring the humanistic aspects of medicine through her writing and clinical work.

As the Keck FMIG Advisor, her main role is to serve as a resource for the student leaders, interface with AAFP/CAFP, and advocate for the organization to the Keck administration. Dr. Reilly assists with Keck FMIG programming, attends many of the leadership and noon lecture meetings, ensures continuity of leadership each year, and spearheads the Primary Care Coalition, which brings together student interest groups to promote interest in primary care and organizes a primary care lunch talk series, service opportunities, and two large events each year.

She is also active in family medicine leadership, maintaining a network of community-based Family Medicine doctors in Los Angeles, in California, and at the national level through Society of Teachers of Family Medicine (STFM) and AAFP. This leadership and networking sustains mentoring and leadership, primary care based community research, leadership opportunities, and conference attendance for our medical students.

Description

FMIG LUNCH TALKS

08/20/2020 12 - 1 PM: "Introduction to FMIG" - Our faculty advisor, Dr. Jo Marie Reilly, spoke about the specialty of family medicine, including scope of practice, residency, fellowships, income, involvement in the community, and why she loves it. Our student leaders also introduced themselves and talked about the upcoming events for FMIG, how to get and stay involved, and shared the student registration link for AAFP to keep students connected nationally.

10/28/2020 12 - 1 PM: "Substance Use Disorder Treatment" - Three Family Medicine physicians who specialize in addiction care talked about their training, current work and predictions for the future of Substance Use Disorder care. We moderated a discussion between Dr. Parham Khalili, AM/Geriatrics Specialist, Dr. Mitika Kanabar, AM Specialist from the FM department at Kaiser Lancaster and Dr. Randolph Holmes, FM/AM Specialist at PIH Hospital and Medical Director for LA Centers for Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

11/11/2020 12 - 1 PM: "Gender Affirming Family Planning Counseling" - Dr. Lisa Craemer is a family medicine physician with a special interest in reproductive health and LBGTQ+ care who gave a talk on family planning counseling in a gender affirming manner in the primary care setting.

11/18/2020 12 - 1 PM: "Narcan Training" - We planned a Narcan Training in collaboration with Emergency Medicine SIG & Substance Use Disorder SIG; we invited two emergency medicine physicians from LAC + USC Emergency Department to teach us how to use Narcan (naloxone). In addition to showing students how, why, and when to use Narcan, we worked with USC Pharmacy and organized a way for students to obtain Narcan to have in case of emergency. We also walked students through the very quick and easy steps of obtaining free/low cost Narcan depending on insurance.

01/11/2021 12 - 1 PM: "FMIG Fellowship Talk" - Local family medicine physicians who had completed fellowships in sports medicine, geriatrics, palliative care, and addiction medicine came and spoke to our students about why they decided to get a fellowship, how it has enhanced their practice, and what interested students can do now to start discovering different fellowship options they may be interested in. A special emphasis was placed on family medicine fellowships not being a specialization but rather an extra tool to use that expands their knowledge base while not limiting the types of patients a family medicine doctor can see.

PRIMARY CARE COALITION LUNCH TALKS

09/17/20 12 - 1 PM: "Primary Care in the COVID Pandemic" - Dr. Jeremy Fish discussed the impact of COVID-19 on primary care.

10/08/2020 12 - 1 PM: "A Day in the Life of a Primary Care Physician" - Local physicians from family medicine, internal medicine, pediatrics, OB/GYN, and Med/Peds spoke on a panel about their practices and how primary care looks across different specialties.

11/05/2020 12 - 1 PM: "The Care of Transgender and Gender Non-Conforming Patients" - We had a panel of diverse patients discuss their experience with healthcare. Attendees learned how to provide culturally competent trans healthcare. The discussion was led by Dr. April Soto, a family medicine doctor from Kaiser Permanente.

12/02/2020 12 - 1 PM: "Primary Care for Vulnerable Patient Populations" - A panel of primary care providers discussed how they care for vulnerable patient populations.

01/13/2021 12 - 1 PM: "Primary Care for Adults with Developmental Disabilities" - Guest speaker Dr. Mark Benor gave a lecture on case-based strategies for creatively providing high quality primary care for adults with developmental disabilities.

02/18/2021 12 - 1 PM: "Becoming a Trauma-Informed Primary Care Provider" - Dr. Brenda Ingram gave a lecture on strategies for providing high quality trauma-informed care in a primary care setting.

03/24/2021 12 - 1 PM: "How to Administer Cognitive Screening Tests: Primary Care Approach" - Dr. Lauren MacMillian gave a lecture on how to identify the warning signs that would prompt cognitive screening in primary care as well as tools and resources that are available to primary care physicians.

04/15/2021 12 - 1 PM: "Lifestyle Counseling for Overweight & Obese Patients: A Primary Care Approach" - Dr. Robert Wallace discussed techniques of motivational interviewing as a tool to coach patients toward healthier behavior change.

Our goal for both the FMIG-specific lunch talks and the Primary Care Coalition collaborative lunch talks was to expose students to the wide variety of opportunity in both family medicine and primary care in general, and we believe that we were able to achieve that, albeit having all of our talks as virtual ZOOM events.

Description

We aimed to create a conference that would enable and empower medical students to be compassionate and effective leaders at school, in the hospital, and in the community during their time at Keck and beyond when they enter the workforce as physicians. This year we chose to have a theme: considerations for treating vulnerable populations. The student leaders who were involved in the process of organizing this event all had a passion for working with vulnerable populations. We selected speakers who embodied this passion as well as demonstrated it in their practice. The conference was held over Zoom and consisted of keynote speakers Dr. Astrid Heppenstall Heger, Director of Violence and Intervention Program, and Dr. Erica Shoemaker, Chief of Clinical Services at LAC+USC Child and Adolescent Psychiatry.

We also had the following workshops, all led by current Keck Students:

The Distribution Dilemma: Ethical Resource Allocation in a Pandemic

1. Explore the principles behind ethical and equitable vaccine development to maximize population protection
2. Discuss how to follow and/or modulate ethical guidelines for vaccine distribution on macro and micro levels using case scenarios
3. Evaluate two different approaches to vaccine distribution and highlight the strengths and weaknesses of each.

Fostering Connections: The Role of Technology

1. Understanding barriers to seniors accessing telemedicine and healthcare in a pandemic.
2. Understanding potential solutions for seniors to overcome barriers and improve technological literacy.
3. Creating a grassroots organization during a pandemic.
4. Combatting social isolation/loneliness through the use of technology.

Street Medicine/Public Policy

1. Identify the components of the HOUSED BEDS model.
2. Examine current COVID policy through the lens of the HOUSED BEDS model.
3. Develop perspective on how best to address the needs of people struggling with homelessness through policy.

Primary Care Provider Mental Health During COVID-19

1. Discuss major stress factors primary care providers are facing as a result of the pandemic and what steps hospitals can take to help alleviate this stress.
2. Think about how your own mental health has been impacted by the pandemic and brainstorm ways to incorporate wellness into your life to prevent provider burnout in the future.

We wanted to include all students who were interested in primary care at this event, so we invited other healthcare students at Keck along with other medical schools in California. In addition, we invited students across the AAFP community network by creating a post on the online forum.

DescriptionRECRUITMENT AT THE STUDENT LIFE FAIR

The Keck Student Life Fair takes place at the beginning of each school year, where all student interest groups (SIGs) can table and recruit new members to their organizations. We had 2 students from FMIG at our virtual table collecting names and emails of first and second year students, where we displayed an informational PowerPoint about our SIG. We also answered any questions the new students had, while encouraging them to sign up for the AAFP and CAFP. We advertised our various programming and encouraged students to attend our first lunch talk of the year. This year, we recruited 32 new members to FMIGs list serve.

FAMILY MEDICINE MENTORSHIP PROGRAM

Six years ago, Keck FMIG established a mentorship program which matched our medical students with practicing community family medicine physicians, allowing students to connect with Family Medicine doctors from a variety of backgrounds. This summer, the mentorship chair, Henry Steyer, recruited 13 physicians to participate in our mentorship program. These doctors were contacted via email with a survey asking whether they would be interested in providing mentorship and shadowing opportunities to medical student mentees, what patient population they generally interact with, if they had completed a fellowship or other specialized training program, and how many students they were willing to mentor. In September, after we had recruited new first year medical students into our FMIG, we had students sign up to be a part of the mentorship program by filling out a similar survey. 21 first and second year medical students signed up for the mentorship program and were manually paired with a mentor by Henry, trying to match students and physicians based on their interests. Participating physicians and medical students were then given the contact information of their match, along with a set of guidelines regarding the expectations and desires from each party. This opened the door for a year of meaningful interactions between mentors and mentees, which many students have told us have been very helpful and inspiring to them.

Description

New Familia is a local, English and Spanish new mom's health education class support group to include breastfeeding, new mom's infant care, postpartum care, support health education group that offers in person classes to new mothers. It is currently doing virtual classes which students can participate in during COVID-19. Students receive reference materials to learn about topics prior to starting in with the classes. Students can sign up for virtual classes monthly with no more than two students per class. Students always work with a doula, childbirth educator or lactation consultant. Students participate as observers or contact Cristina Carlos to discuss helping teach a class. Each group has 3-7 women. The classes last for 1.5-2 hours. Students serve as a resource to patients and their families and are able to hone interpersonal skills. Students appreciate having the rare opportunity to learn about maternal health and obstetrics, which deepens their knowledge about family medicine and family planning. Students also have the opportunity to present childbirth, postpartum and lactation material to the new moms under the guidance of Cristina Carlos and Dr Reilly.

Due to COVID-19 precautions, we had to put Cuddle Club on hold for this year. Our Ready, Set, Fit/Cuddle Club Chair, Paige Kingston, worked with Dr. Jo Marie Reilly, our faculty advisor, to set up this new collaboration with New Familia. We held our first orientation in January 2021. Once students completed orientation, students have volunteered with New Familia per their schedules . Participation is tracked via a sign-in sheet on a Google Doc. We are excited to participate in this new opportunity and hope to continue expanding on this collaboration.

PRIMARY CARE COALITION MEETINGS - 08/04/2020, 10/01/2020, 10/29/2020, 12/01/2020, 01/07/2021, 01/25/2021, 02/03/2021, May 4, 2021

Throughout the year, our FMIG participates in Primary Care Coalition meetings with members of other primary care specialty student interest groups to create collaborative events that students interested in primary care in general will find helpful. We do this to promote the values of primary care and the common interests that these distinct specialties have with cohesive lunch talks, service events, and this year, a leadership conference (see previous sections for details on these events). These meetings are a chance for primary care interest groups to work together to make sure we are not creating competing events but rather working together on the things that we can. These meetings are led by our faculty advisor and held about every 2 months. They also enable student to see the commonality and distinctions within the primary care specialties as they try to discern which primary care specialty most matches their future career goals.

PRIMARY CARE SERVICE EVENT

Mayor's Fund for Covid Relief - November 2020 - January 2021

This event was promoted by the Primary Care Coalition with participation in donation from all groups. We raised over $250 for the Los Angeles Mayor's Fund.

Description

In addition to outreach at LAC+USC Hospital, our FMIG provided community service opportunities in outpatient community settings. Our Community Outreach Chair, Nick Hu, collaborated with the Asian Pacific Health Corps (APHC), a community health organization that organizes health fairs throughout Los Angeles. The health fair was held virtually, serving individuals in the Monterey Park area, a largely Cantonese- and Mandarin-speaking population. Due to COVID-19 precautions, this yearly health fair provided services virtually such as physician consultations and health workshops. Due to these precautions, students were offered opportunities to shadow telehealth consults or to work with physicians as translators.

Pelvic Ultrasound Workshop - 04/29/2021, 12 - 1 PM

A virtual pelvic ultrasound workshop was held with Dr. Lisa Craemer. The objective of this workshop was to provide medical students with an opportunity to become more exposed to a skill that is so valuable in the field of family medicine. Procedural trainings such as these are unfortunately not a significant part of the Keck curriculum, so we felt that being able to provide these workshops is an exciting addition to our medical student curriculum.
