

State/Local Advocacy Resources (AAFP Tobacco and Nicotine Toolkit)

The tobacco control advocacy resources are intended to help family physicians improve their communities and the lives of their patients.

The table below outlines the sections of the tobacco control advocacy resources and demonstrates how these components map back to the AAFP advocacy toolkit and the call to action recommendations stated in the AAFP tobacco position paper.

The states in this resource guide were selected because they have the highest rates of cigarette smoking among adults in the U.S., according to the most recent statistics (2013) from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The seven states are: Arkansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and West Virginia. Your guide to state-level advocacy features information and resources in the following categories:

1. Did your state make the grade?

State-level grade on key policies that help prevent the death, disability, and disease caused by tobacco use. State of Tobacco Control is an initiative of the American Lung Association.

2. Stay Informed

State-level information on campaigns, coalitions, and other grassroots efforts on tobacco and nicotine control.

3. Track State Legislation and Laws on Tobacco

State-level legislation and laws targeting tobacco and nicotine control.

4. Meet Your State Senators and Representatives

Information about senators and representatives in your state and a link to the AAFP Bill Tracker for information on the bills that directly impact family medicine.

5. Tap Into Local Resources

State-level programs supported through departments of health or independent organizations. Most programs focus on patient education and resources for prevention or cessation.
